

From the Chairman....

The coming year will I trust be a year of member participation. 1974, although satisfying with our very active participation in the World Congress, our overseas visits and the opening of a Scottish Branch, left much to be desired. Whereas we did much useful work for various bodies too much was left to too few.

Next year we have the London Colloquium on 'Insurance and the Consumer' and everything indicates that we will be having an even better than usual overseas participation. If we couple this with the ambitious programme of our European Working Group it will be quickly seen that 1975 should be a bumper year.

With the influx of new members, a regular Bulletin (which I have been promised) and varied meetings, all we need is more of our members participating in more of our activities.

MICHAEL COHEN